Convention and Legislature May Sit at Same Time- Braxton's New Suffrage Plan. Report of Executive Department Committee-Day's Proceedings.

The Constitutional Convention made good progress with its work on yesterday. Except for some immaterial matters, it completed the consideration of the report of the Committee on County Government. There were seventy-seven members present and the session consumed exactly three hours. In the morning hour a great deal of business was transacted. A pointed by the chair to confer with a similar committee from the House of Delegates to ascertain if the convention and the House might not both meet in the same hall. This action was recommended in a report adopted by the convention which came from the committee vention, which came from the consumttee appointed to take the natter up.

Mr. Braxton presented a new suffrage plan, and the Committee on the Executive Department submitted its report which was unanimous. Both these important and interesting papers will be found below.

An order was made, beginning with today, abolishing afternoon sessions and providing that the convention meet daily at 10 o'clock A. M. and actiourn at 2 P. M. Mr. Keezell made a fruitless protest

Mr. Keezell made a fruitless protest against this. A great many memorials were presented, most of them relating to the liquor traffic. The convention then for two hours con-

Mr. Keezell arose and said he protested against this everlasting changing of the hours of meeting. It disorganized everything. The present hours from 19 until 1 o clock, and from 3 until 5, had been productive of more work than any other archerosters.

Mr. Goode said the Legislature must meet and it became necessary for the convention to secure some other hall, unless arrangements could be made with the House of Delegates as to the joint use of this hall. He said there had been four this hall. He said there had been four bodies in session in the Capitol building before.

Captain Parks opposed the amendment.

He pointed out how impracticable would be the operation of the law, and said it would result in such confusion as to make

Judge Harrison called attention to the fact that the convention had already adopted an ordinance in the report of the legislative department that no man should hold two offices, and if that portion of the report was struck but, it would not bre-vent a sheriff and treasurer being combined in one office.

Judge Campbell, of Amherst, opposed the amendment. He said he was dead against any one man holding two good jobs. He gave notice of an amendment.

Judge Campbell offered a substitute pro-viding that no elective officer shall hold two elective offices, and made a strong speech in support of the proposition.

Surveyors have gotten up a map which promises to be one of the best guides to city officials that has been seen here. The map shows clearly every public road and the different railroads in the county of Henrico and also gives the different farms, their owners and the number of acres in them. With the question of the extension of the city limits, the map will be of untold benefit to the officials, who would have to make a trip to the suburbs. There are two maps. One of them is divided into rine sections and gives fully the suburbs of Richmond and when the limits could be extended to. The other deals with the county and is a master-piece of work. They can be seen at the office of Mr. Redd, No. 115 Bank Street.
